FDA May Pull Top Painkillers

Panel recommends elimination of Vicodin and Percocet

ADELPHI, MD. | Government experts say prescription drugs such as Vicodin and Percocet that combine a popular painkiller with stronger narcotics should be eliminated because of their role in deadly overdoses.

A Food and Drug Administration panel on Tuesday voted 20-17 that prescription drugs that combine acetaminophen with other painkilling ingredients should be pulled off the market.

The FDA has assembled a group of experts to vote on ways to reduce liver damage associated with acetaminophen, one of the most widely used drugs in the U.S. and the leading cause of liver failure in the country, according to the FDA.

Panelists cited FDA data indicating 60 percent of acetaminophen-related deaths are related to prescription products. Acetaminophen is also found in popular overthe-counter medications such as Tylenol and Excedrin. "We're here because there are inadvertent overdoses with this drug that are fatal, and this is the one opportunity we have to do something that will have a big impact," said Dr. Judith Kramer of Duke University Medical Center.

In a separate vote, the panel voted overwhelmingly, 36-1, that if the drugs stay on the market, they should carry a black box warning, the most serious safety label available. MATTHEW PERRONE (AP)

A woman accused of dipping into her ex-husband's bank account blames her dog. Arlington, Wash., police learned that money disappearing from a man's account was being used to pay for bills at his ex-wife's home. Police said the woman's first response was, "Her dog got into her purse and ate all her personal checks," forcing her to take money from her ex. (AP)

Our Tribute to Michael Jackson

Current events don't usually affect the EyeOpeners page. No matter what's going on in the world, people are always smuggling marijuana in innovative ways, robbing stores ever more incompetently or erecting incomprehensible works of public art. But Michael Jackson's death halted the weird news cycle along with every other — perhaps because he out-weirds us all. So, the only photo we could find to run today is this one, of a baby camel born in Nuremberg, Germany, and named Michael Jackson. (EXPRESS)

Gunmen Wound 7 In Detroit

3 teens are in critical condition after attack near summer school

DETROIT | Gunmen in a green minivan opened fire on a group of teenagers waiting at a bus stop near a Detroit school on Tuesday, wounding seven, including three who were later in critical condition, authorities said.

Five of the teens had just left Cody Ninth Grade Academy, where they were taking summer classes.

The gunmen exited a vehicle and "asked for a person by name" before they "opened fire at the crowd," said Detroit Public Schools Police Chief Roderick Grimes. Detroit Police were looking for two suspects in a green minivan, said spokesman Rod Liggons.

The teenagers, four boys and three girls, range in age from 14 to 17 years old, Liggons said. Three of the teens were in critical condition, he said.

Schools spokesman Steve Wasko said there was "nothing that we're aware of at this time" linking the shootings with any fight or dispute at the school. (AP)

Franken Wins Long Election Fight

Coleman concedes Senate race after loss in Minn. high court

ST. PAUL, MINN. | Republican Norm Coleman conceded to Democrat Al Franken in Minnesota's contested Senate race Tuesday, hours after a unanimous state Supreme Court ruled the former "Saturday Night Live" comedian should be certified the winner.

Coleman announced his decision at a news conference in St. Paul, bringing an end to a nearly eight-month recount and court fight over an election decided by only a few hundred votes.

"The Supreme Court has made its decision, and I will abide by the results," Coleman said.

Franken told reporters outside his downtown Minneapolis townhouse, "Franni and I are so thrilled that we can finally celeabreast of what's going on, and I'll do the best I can."

Coleman, appearing relaxed and upbeat, said he had congratulated Franken, was at peace with his decision to concede and had no regrets about the fight, which started almost immediately after the Nov. 4 election.

Franken's victory will give Democrats control over 60 Senate seats, the number needed to overcome any filibusters to health care, energy or other legislation.

Betty K. Koed, the assistant Senate historian, said the 60-vote Democratic majority marks the first time either political party has reached that level since the late 1970s. BRIAN BAKST (AP)

DRUGS Supersize Weed Connecticut police have arrested a teen they accuse of selling marijuana and packing it into a Chicken McNugget box. Police said the teen and three alleged customers were nabbed after a police officer spotted some suspicious activity over the weekend. The arrests came after one alleged customer was spotted coming out of the teen's apartment building with the McNugget box. An officer said he found marijuana inside the box. The teen pleaded not guilty to the charges on Monday. (AP)

Gov.: Mistress Is Soul Mate

S.C. leader Sanford says he 'crossed lines' with other women

COLUMBIA, S.C. | South Carolina Gov. Mark Sanford declared his Argentine mistress his soul mate Tuesday but said he is committed to reconciling with his wife in hopes of saving his family and what is left of his political career.

Sanford, who also admitted meeting his lover more times than he had previously claimed, told The Associated Press in emotional interviews that he "crossed lines" with a handful of other women during 20 years of marriage.

But he said he never went as far as he did with Maria Belen Chapur, the woman at the center of the scandal that has derailed his once-promising political future.

Even with the latest revela-

tions, Sanford maintains he is fit to govern and has no plans to resign. And he insisted his relationship with Chapur, who he met at an open-air dance spot in Uruguay eight years ago, was more than just sex. "This was a whole lot more than a simple affair; this was a love story," Sanford said. "A forbidden one, a tragic one, but a love story at the end of the day."

Sanford said he saw Chapur five times over the past year, including two multi-night stays with her in New York. He said he saw her two other times before that, including their first meeting.

Sanford acknowledged that he had casual encounters with other women while he was married on trips outside the country to "blow off steam" with male friends.

"What I would say is that I've never had sex with another woman. Have I done stupid? I have. You know, you meet someone. You dance with them. You go to a place where you probably shouldn't have gone," Sanford said, declining to discuss details. (AP)

N. Korean Ship Turns Back

U.S. tracked vessel, suspecting it carried
illegal arms shipment

WASHINGTON | U.S. officials said Tuesday that a North Korean ship has turned around and is headed back toward the north where it came from, after being tracked for more than a week by American Navy vessels on suspicion of carrying illegal weapons.

The move keeps the U.S. and the international community guessing: Where is the Kang Nam 1 going? Does its cargo include materials banned by a new U.N. anti-proliferation resolution?

The North Korean ship Kang Nam I, shown in 2006, turned around Sunday.

The ship left the North Korean port of Nampo on June 17 and is the first vessel monitored under U.N. sanctions that ban the regime from selling arms and nuclear-related material.

The Navy has been watching it — at times following it from a distance. It traveled south and southwest for more than a week; then, on Sunday, it turned around and headed back north, two U.S. officials said on condition of anonymity.

Nearly two weeks after the ship left North Korea, officials said Tuesday they still do not know where it is going. But it was about 250 miles south of Hong Kong on Tuesday, one official said.

Two officials had said earlier Tuesday that the Kang Nam had been moving very slowly in recent days. They said they did not know what the turnaround of the ship means, nor what prompted it.

Chinese PC Order Rescinded

Government caves to public criticism of Web-filter software

BEIJING | In a rare reversal, China's government gave in to domestic and international pressure and backed down Tuesday from a rule that would have required personal computers sold in the country to have Internet-filtering software.

Just hours before the rule was to have taken effect, the government said it would postpone the requirement for the "Green Dam" software. The Ministry of Industry and Information Technology said it made the decision partly because some PC markets were having difficulty meeting the deadline. It did not say whether the plan might be revived.

The change of course averted a possible scuffle with Washington. U.S. officials protested the plan after it was imposed abruptly in May, calling it a barrier to trade. Angry Web users circulated petitions protesting Green Dam, while industry groups warned the software might create security problems.

The controversy reflected the conflict between the communist government's desire to control information and China's high-tech ambitions. The country has an increasingly informed, vocal public and tighter links to companies that create urgently needed jobs and tax revenue. JOE MCDONALD (AP)

Car Bombing Mars Revelry in Iraq

Kirkuk attack kills 33 people as country marks U.S. pullback

BAGHDAD | Not a single American soldier was in sight. Gone, too, were the American helicopters whose buzz has for years defined Baghdad's background track.

Left alone to protect the capital Tuesday were thousands of Iraqi troops and police manning checkpoints, with army tanks deployed at potential trouble spots and convoys of pickup trucks with machine guns roaming the streets.

But it was elsewhere, 180 miles to the north, that militants delivered their first deadly challenge to Iraq's security forces on a highly symbolic day after the formal withdrawal of U.S. combat troops from cities at midnight.

A car bombing devastated a food market in Kirkuk, killing at least 33 people and wounding 90. The evening attack, which bore the marks of Sunni extremist groups such as al-Qaeda in Iraq, was the second in the Kirkuk area since a truck blast killed 82 people on June 20.

The latest bombing was a deadly example of the violence many Iraqis fear will increase with the departure of American troops from urban areas.

The bombing came hours after the U.S. military announced that four American soldiers were killed in combat shortly before the military completed its withdrawal from Iraq's cities on Monday. It was the deadliest attack on U.S. forces since May 21, when three soldiers were killed in a blast in Baghdad.

"It reminds me that there are still dangers out there," Gen. Ray Odierno, the top U.S. soldier in Iraq, said of the deaths.

The violence marred what otherwise was a festive occasion as Iraqis commemorated National Sovereignty Day with parades in the capital. HAMZA HENDAWI (AP)

Zelaya Finds Wide Global Support

U.N. leaders demand Honduras reinstate the ousted president

TEGUCIGALPA, HONDURAS | Honduras' ousted president won overwhelming international support Tuesday as he planned a high-profile return to his chaotic country.

Honduran President Manuel Zelaya shakes hands at the U.N. on Tuesday.

The politicians who sent soldiers to shoot up his residence and fly him into exile in his pajamas said he will be arrested for treason if he tries.

The showdown was building to a climax as international leaders signed on to accompany President Manuel Zelaya on a flight to Honduras on Thursday. The U.N. General Assembly demanded Zelaya's immediate restoration, and the Organization of American States was meeting to consider suspending Honduras for straying from democracy.

"The resolution that the United Nations has just adopted unanimously ... expresses the indignation of the people of Honduras and of people worldwide," a triumphant Zelaya told the assembly in New York. WILL WEISSERT (AP)

Teen Survives Yemeni Jet Crash

Airplane carrying 153 ditches in Indian Ocean near Comoros

MORONI, COMOROS | A Yemeni jetliner carrying 153 people crashed in the Indian Ocean on Tuesday as it came in for a landing during howling winds on the island nation of Comoros. Yemeni officials said a teenage girl survived.

The crash came two years after aviation officials reported faults with the plane, an Airbus 310 flying the last leg of a journey from Paris and Marseille to Comoros, with a stop in Yemen to change planes. Most of the passengers were from Comoros. Sixty-six on board were French nationals.

Khaled el-Kaei, the head of Yemenia airline's public relations office, said a 14-year-old survived the crash. And Yemen's embassy in Washington issued a statement saying a young girl survived and was taken to a hospital.

Yemeni civil aviation deputy chief Mohammed Abdul Qader said the flight data recorder had not been found and it was too early to speculate about the cause of the crash. But he said the wind was 40 mph as the plane was landing. "The weather was very bad," he said, adding windy conditions hampered rescue efforts. (AP)

Tax Scammer Sentenced

Woman who stole $48M from D.C. gets 17 1/2 years in prison

Harriette Walters, the mastermind of the $48.1 million D.C. tax scam, was sentenced Tuesday to 17 1/2 years in federal prison, capping the prosecution of the largest embezzlement in District government history.

Walters said little as U.S. District Judge Emmet G. Sullivan sentenced the 52-year-old to near the top of a sentencing range laid out in a plea deal she had reached with prosecutors. She is the last of 11 people to be sentenced in the scheme, which she admitting running for nearly two decades.

"I've accepted full responsibility for the part I played," Walters said, speaking for the first time.

"This scheme was very sophisticated," Sullivan said. "It spanned 18 years. The city lost; the citizens lost."

Federal prosecutors described Walters as a sophisticated, calculating woman who exploited lax oversight in the D.C. government to siphon millions of dollars from the treasury. They urged Sullivan to sentence Walters to the top of a 15- to 18-year prison range specified under her plea agreement.

"Walters is extraordinarily greedy," prosecutors Timothy G. Lynch and David S. Johnson wrote in court papers. DEL QUENTIN WILBER (THE WASHINGTON POST)

UPPER MARLBORO, MD. | The mother of an inmate found strangled in a jail cell is suing Prince George's County.

Attorneys filed the nearly $154 million suit Tuesday in Prince George's County Circuit Court on behalf of Angela L. White, the mother of 19-year-old Ronnie White, who died in his jail cell.

It comes less than a month after state prosecutors said they would not likely charge anyone with murder, citing a lack of evidence.

White, who was accused of killing a police officer, was found dead in June 2008.

The state medical examiner ruled he was strangled and declared the death a homicide.

Fireworks explode on July 4, 2008, in San Jose, Calif. This year's fireworks display there was canceled after the city cut grants to cover police and fire protection.

Fireworks Shows On Chopping Block

Towns across the U.S. are struggling to pay for holiday tradition

BUDGET CUTS | Lack of bucks means less bang this July Fourth for many cash-strapped cities.

Fireworks shows are being canceled or scaled back, mostly in small and midsize cities, as municipalities' tax revenue dries up with the slowing economy and falling home prices. Funding from corporate sponsorships also has fizzled as businesses deal with economic problems of their own.

The budget realities are forcing communities to decide, for example, whether they can pay for extra police and fire protection for a fireworks show — or perhaps pay an officer's salary for the rest of the year. And some organizers have concerns about seeking money for a celebration as communities struggle to take care of life-or-death needs worsened by the recession.

In some cases, it's not just the Fireworks shows are being canceled from sea to shining sea:

→ A $500,000 festival and fireworks display in San Jose, Calif., was canceled after the city cut grants to cover police and fire protection.

→ Businesses in Charlottesville, Va., that organize the event are scaling it back this year and have already canceled it for next year.

→ Other cities canceling shows include Mesa, Ariz.; Colorado Springs, Colo.; Niceville, Fla.; and Garland, Texas.

fireworks shows getting the ax. Municipal and corporate sponsors have reduced or pulled funding for whole festivals encompassing music, food and other staples of summer.

Some fireworks companies have reported that business is off about 10 percent from last year, said Julie L. Heckman, executive director of the American Pyrotechnics Association. MICHAEL FELBERBAUM (AP)

Local Aims to Make Noise at AT&T

Fairfax's Marino is eager to tee off after last year's great start

AT&T NATIONAL | As Fairfax, Va., native Steve Marino stood waiting to tee off at the par-4 8th hole during a practice round Tuesday in advance of Thursday's AT&T National at Congressional Country Club, he heard an unfamiliar sound — silence.

While quiet galleries are a norm for most golf tournaments, it's far from the scene Marino came to expect and love one year ago when he led this tournament after carding a first round 5-under par 65. A collection of alcohol-aided friends from W.T. Woodson High School, tagalongs from his playing days at the University of Virginia and golfing buddies became the talk of the course, injecting the pristine country club with some much needed Happy Gilmore-esque flair.

"It's like a party out here for them," said Marino, in between signing autographs for the masses. "They come out here, drink beer, get drunk, get loud, and they really enjoy themselves, which is what this is all about."

Those friends will be back again this week, but eclipsing Marino might be a bit harder. The third-year pro is having his best year on the PGA Tour, already with three top-10 showings this season, including a second-place finish at the Crowne Plaza Invitational in May. He lost in a playoff to Steve Stricker.

In the process, the 29-year-old has vaulted himself to No. 72 on the world golf rankings and currently sits 28th on the 2009 PGA money list with more than $1.4 million in earnings. Even better, Marino's long, accurate driver (he's currently T-18th on the tour in total driving) and strong first round a year ago have cemented him as a trendy dark horse pick to take home the trophy in the D.C. area's last professional golf tournament until the 2011 U.S. Open comes to Congressional.

"I just feel like I've been getting a little bit better every year in pretty much all aspects of the game," Marino said. "It's the best time of my life right now."

Pistons Fire Curry After 1 Season as Head Coach

The Detroit Pistons fired coach Michael Curry on Tuesday as the team started rebuilding from an unpopular trade, a sub-.500 record and an embarrassing first-round exit from the playoffs that ended its six-year streak of making it to the conference finals. The Pistons went 39-43 and were swept in the postseason in four lopsided losses to the Cleveland Cavaliers. (AP)

Youkilis Passes Teixeira In All-Star Balloting

Boston's Kevin Youkilis has moved back in front of the Yankees' Mark Teixeira with two days left in AL balloting for starters for the All-Star Game in St. Louis on July 14. Youkilis had 1,915,303 votes in totals released Tuesday, compared to Teixeira's 1,875,256. Last week, Teixeira was ahead by 35,632. (AP)

Madrid Rolls Out Kaka

Kaka ushered in Real Madrid's latest "galactico" era as the Spanish club gave the Brazilian player a rock star welcome with an unveiling in front of at least 50,000 fans on Tuesday. After team president Florentino Perez introduced Kaka for the first time since his $92 million acquisition from AC Milan, the 27-year-old playmaker shook his head in delight as fans chanted his name at the Santiago Bernabeu. "Today is a very special day for me." (AP)

Tiger Loves Being a 'Greedy Host'

Woods seeks to win AT&T despite a hectic schedule this week

AT&T NATIONAL | Tiger Woods made his first appearance at Congressional Country Club with a practice round Tuesday morning, perhaps the only normal moment in a week in which he will be pulled in several directions as the host of the AT&T National.

"A few more meetings, a few more appearances here and there that you don't normally do," Woods said before a packed interview room at the Bethesda club. "That's something that you kind of get used to. ... You understand how to balance your time and try to be as ready as you possibly can."

Woods is making his first appearance at the AT&T National since 2007, the inaugural event. He missed last year's tournament after undergoing surgery to rebuild his left knee, a procedure that wiped out the second half of his season.

Woods is at full strength now, and he said that even with his additional responsibilities — meeting sponsors and wounded veterans, playing in Wednesday morning's pro-am, participating in a meeting for the Tiger Woods Foundation — he is here to win. "I love being a greedy host," Woods said. "It is fun to win your own event. It's awfully fun to do that."

PENALTIES And Stay Out! The NCAA on Tuesday rejected an appeal from former Indiana basketball coach Kelvin Sampson, who was slapped with five years of potential penalties for taking part in more than 100 impermissible calls to recruits. Sampson, who argued the penalty was too harsh, is essentially barred from coaching in college until 2013. The fallout from the case created a major overhaul at Indiana, where Tom Crean now coaches. JOHN McDONNELL/TWP

The trade sending Lastings Milledge brought an unceremonious end to the outfielder's short stay in Washington. The former Met floundered as a leadoff hitter.

Milledge Shipped To Bucs in Trade

Nats acquire Morgan as team also gives up on closer Hanrahan

NATIONALS | Just a few months ago, the Washington Nationals envisioned Lastings Milledge and Joel Hanrahan as building blocks—the future center fielder, the future closer. On Tuesday, in a move dictated by a pair of disappointing seasons, the Nationals packaged Milledge and Hanrahan, sending them to the Pittsburgh Pirates in exchange for outfielder Nyjer Morgan and relief pitcher Sean Burnett.

The first significant trade orchestrated by acting general manager Mike Rizzo reflected much about his team-building strategy. He likes performance over potential, reliability over high-yield—a counter to his predecessor, Jim Bowden.

Morgan, who turns 29 on Thursday, is a late bloomer known for his speed and defense. He's well-suited to bat leadoff, a role in which the free-swinging Milledge floundered. In his third big league season, and first as an everyday player, Morgan started mostly in left field for the Pirates, batting .277 with a .351 on-base percentage.

Morgan said he anticipated a center field role with the Nationals. "It's basically a no-brainer," he said. He added about the trade: "I'm pretty pumped up because I'm flattered when you have a team like the Nationals and they really want you. I'm almost out of words."

Top 4 seeds advance to Wimbledon semis for 1st time since '06

TENNIS | Venus and Serena Williams are one round away from meeting in another Wimbledon final.

Five-time champion Venus Williams overpowered Agnieszka Radwanska 6-1, 6-2 Tuesday, and two-time winner Serena Williams followed her to the semifinals with a 6-2, 6-3 win over Victoria Azarenka.

No. 3-seeded Venus Williams will face top-ranked Dinara Safina, who overcame 15 double-faults and beat German teenager Sabine Lisicki 6-7 (5), 6-4, 6-1 to reach the Wimbledon semis for the first time.

In the bottom half of the draw, No. 4 Elena Dementieva defeated Italy's Francesca Schiavone 6-2, 6-2 to set up a semifinal encounter with No. 2 Serena Williams.

It's the first time since 2006 that all four top-seeded women have reached the semifinals at a Grand Slam tournament.

plays of power tennis, showing why they've dominated at the All England Club for most of the decade.

Venus Williams, seeking her third-straight Wimbledon title, outthit the 14th-ranked Pole from all parts of the court and proved again that she is the dominant female player on grass. "Do I feel invincible?" Williams said. "I'd like to say yes, but I really do work at it."

Venus Williams had her left leg taped again but showed no weakness as she ripped 29 winners in a 68-minute match. "I can't complain," she said. "I'm in the semifinals of Wimbledon, right where I want to be. I just need to take another step forward."

Looks Are Not Deceiving

Beautiful imagery is not enough to hide a lack of complexity in 'Public Enemies'

FILM | With "Public Enemies," all the pieces would seem to be in place for an epic gangster drama: director Michael Mann, who has an affinity for complicated criminals; stars Johnny Depp and Christian Bale, who are famous for immersing themselves in their roles; and a thrilling true story of brazen bank robbers on the run. The trouble is, "Public Enemies" feels rather stagnant. It looks terrific with its period details and costumes, rich production values and striking high-definition cinematography from frequent Mann collaborator Dante Spinotti.

[Dillinger] is more like a charming guy committing questionable acts.

It makes you wonder why Mann would hold back. Dramatic restraint is certainly preferable to a gratuitous onslaught, but "Public Enemies" often borders on boring.

Mann follows the string of bank robberies John Dillinger (Depp) and his crew pulled off between his well-orchestrated escape from an Indiana prison in 1933 and his death at the hands of federal

NOT-SO-LAYERED ROLE: Johnny Depp is all charm and bad boy in "Public Enemies," but Michael Mann doesn't address the complexities of his chosen profession.

'PUBLIC ENEMIES'

→ DIRECTOR: Michael Mann

→ FOR FANS OF: "Bonnie and Clyde," "The Insider"

agents on the crowded streets of Chicago 14 months later. Bale plays Melvin Purvis, the agent who lives to pursue Dillinger.

The director of "Heat" and "The Insider" has said he was fascinated by Dillinger not just as a daring criminal but as the hero he became for regular people, folks who blamed the banks for their financial troubles during the Depression. Dillinger robbed those very institutions, which felt to them like an act of vigilante justice.

But nowhere in "Public Enemies" will you find that sentiment explored or even hinted at in a cursory way. Dillinger is famous here, of course — he's Public Enemy No. 1, hence the title — but there's little sense of his public perception and not much context for his notoriety. Mann also doesn't really depict the poverty or desperation of the era; Dillinger usually spends time in cars, banks and glamorous haunts with slick cohorts. He's more like a charming guy committing questionable acts.

Welcome To the Big Time

The Academy taps 134 new members to vote on the Oscars

EXCLUSIVE | Hugh Jackman, Seth Rogen, Oscar nominee Anne Hathaway and Oscar-winning director Danny Boyle have been invited into the exclusive Hollywood club that votes on the Academy Awards.

Others among the 134 people asked to join the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences include recent acting nominees Taraji P. Henson, Amy Ryan, Melissa Leo, Casey Affleck, Viola Davis and Michael Shannon. Jackman hosted in February.

Michelle Williams, former girlfriend of 2008 posthumous supporting-actor winner Heath Ledger, also has been invited into the academy. Williams co-starred with Ledger in "Brokeback Mountain," earning a supporting-actress nomination for the film.

The academy has just under 6,000 voting members. The 82nd Oscars are scheduled for March 7. (AP)

ROLES She's a Knockout Amy Adams is in final negotiations to star opposite Christian Bale and Mark Wahlberg in "The Fighter." The movie tells the story of boxer "Irish" Mickey Ward (Wahlberg) and his trainer-brother Dick Eklund (Bale). It chronicles their early days on the rough streets of Lowell, Mass., through Eklund's battle with drugs and Ward's eventual world championship in London. Adams will play Charlene, a tough, gritty bartender who ends up dating Mickey. (THE HOLLYWOOD REPORTER)

Same Ancient Tricks

Like all the 'Ice Age' flicks, 'Dinosaurs' is strictly for the kids

FILM | There is more action and more cuddly creatures for kids to love in "Ice Age: Dawn of the Dinosaurs," than in the animated franchise's first two installments. For parents, it's more of the same, a "Yawn of the Dinosaurs" adventure with some new faces and places but the same central characters rehashing the themes of the first two movies.

The worn-out idea the filmmakers have yet another crack at: Families can be found objects, stitched together from all sorts of misfits who bond to form their own loving little clan. The main thing that distinguishes this movie from its predecessors is the setting, as the gang of prehistoric animals journeys underground to a lost world of dinosaurs.

Ellie, Crash, Manny, Buck, Eddie and Diego look out over the Chasm of Death.

Once again, the main players are Manny the woolly mammoth (voiced by Ray Romano); his wife, Ellie (Queen Latifah); Diego the saber-toothed tiger (Denis Leary); and Sid the sloth (John Leguizamo). Sibling possums Crash and Eddie (Seann William Scott and Josh Peck) also tag along again. A new member of this extended family, one-eyed weasel Buck (Simon Pegg) steals the movie with his lively, looney patter and daring antics. But it's strictly a slapstick tale for the young ones. DAVID GERMAIN (AP)

Now Playing

AWAY WE GO (R, 98 minutes) As the movie opens, Burt (John Krasinski) and Verona (Maya Rudolph) find out that Verona is pregnant. When they go to tell Burt's parents (Catherine O'Hara and Jeff Daniels), they discover that the expectant grandparents plan to move to Europe before the baby is born. That development sends Burt and Verona on a journey to find a new definition of themselves as an expanded family unit. Written by Dave Eggers and Vendela Vida, and directed by Sam Mendes, the film, at least at first blush, feels like a welcome respite from the false happily-ever-afters of most mainstream movies. But, mostly, Verona is a mirror to the people that she and Burt encounter on their road trip. And it's in these vignettes that the film begins to feel less like an authentic exploration of identity than a condemnation of the very community the couple pretend to crave.

Sofia Vassilieva plays a cancer-stricken teenager in "My Sister's Keeper."

No one, it turns out, is good enough for Burt and Verona. (AH)
DEPARTURES (PG-13, 130 minutes) Daigo Kobayashi (Masahiro Motoki) once dreamed of being a successful cellist, but now the sensitive young man has taken up a new line of work: preparing the dead for burial. This is a movie that could never be made in America. It doesn't flirt with death as a plot twist or denouement but is thoroughly immersed in dying from beginning to end. Gentle comedy helps the full immersion process. Daigo is apprenticed to an old master of the craft (Tsutomu Yamazaki). The two men form an unlikely friendship, as the older man quietly prepares Daigo to take over the business. The strength of the film is relationships. The weakness is the film's social agenda, which is all in the service of old traditions. It is as polished as it is heavy-handed, and it leaves one under a spell. (PK) EASY VIRTUE (PG-13, 93 minutes) This traditional English comedy of manners is cut from the same drapery as "Gosford Park" and any Oscar Wilde film adaptation, minus the thematic heft and belly laughs of either. But for those thirsty for an unchallenging diversion, this may be your cup of tea. The English countryside is lovely, after all, and so are the actors: Kristin Scott Thomas as the cold matriarch Mrs. Whittaker, Colin Firth as her uncouth husband and Ben Barnes as John, their dapper son. John recently married an American (heavens!) who's also a famous race-car driver with an accomplished sexual résumé (goodness gracious!). The American race-car driver, Larita, is played by Jessica Biel, who must have the most talented agent and publicist in America. What might've been a scrumptious, chocolatey dessert of a movie — a Noel Coward delite — is instead a scoop of lemon ice, not filling, faintly sweet and mostly water. DAN ZAK

FOOD, INC (PG, 94 minutes) This absorbing look behind the curtain of the cynical and often sickening workings of the modern industrial food system does a superb job of making its case that our current food ways are drastically out of whack. Starting with the chicken and beef industries, the filmmakers trace how fast-food culture created the corporate concentration of agricultural production and the disappearance of the traditional family farm. With damning hidden-camera footage and interviews with such pioneering journalists as Eric Schlosser and Michael Pollan, the film deftly demonstrates how issues such as illegal immigration, public health and intellectual property law intersect at the largely hidden nexus of Big Meat. See the film after dinner, but see it. (AH)

THE HANGOVER (R, 99 minutes) Two days before his wedding, Doug (Justin Bartha) and three guy friends (Bradley Cooper, Ed Helms, Zach Galifianakis) decide to enjoy one last hurrah in Las Vegas before Doug ties the knot. But almost as soon as they embark into that good night, all becomes oblivion. They don't remember a thing. Who was the stripper leaving their hotel room early in the morning? How did that tiger end up in their bathroom? And what the heck happened to their missing friend Doug? Their only way out of this nightmare is to return from the proverbial fire back to the frying pan: the noble institution of marriage. That's what you call a real punch line. (DT)

IMAGINE THAT (PG, 107 minutes) The film, in which Eddie Murphy plays a careerist investment banker redeemed by fatherhood and fantasy, is a redemptive act for Murphy. Little Yara Shahidi is beautiful and natural as Murphy's daughter, Olivia; Thomas Haden Church is inspired as an inspired character, Johnny Whitefeather, a faux mystic who parlays Native American spirituality into snake-oil salesmanship. As he struggles to maintain clients, Murphy's Evan Danielson discovers a quick path to happiness: In his daughter's fantasy world there are princesses who can make winning stock predictions. Audiences will make do with a movie that takes a major step toward reasserting Murphy's place as the comic heir not just to Richard Pryor, but to Groucho Marx. The return of Eddie Murphy? Imagine that. (JA)

LAND OF THE LOST (PG-13, 93 minutes) Will Ferrell's Rick Marshall, a crackpot scientist in a career slump, is transported through time-space with a comely assistant (Anna Friel) and an unwitting dillweed (Danny McBride) to a parallel dimension. Behold the Land of the Lost:

part jungle, part desert, part Six Flags — a junkyard strewn with pop culture's detritus, inhabited by dinosaurs, zombie-like lizard men (the Sleestaks) and, of course, the furry Pakune known as Chaka (Jorma Taccone), who deservedly gets more laughs than Ferrell. It seems everyone gets more laughs than Ferrell here, including "Today" host Matt Lauer, who makes a delightful cameo. And while not completely terrible, the film's more laugh-worthy bits have already been seen in endless ads for the movie. HANK STUEVER

MY LIFE IN RUINS (PG-13, 98 minutes) In fashioning a comeback for Nia Vardalos, writer Mike Reiss has cribbed much from her "My Big Fat Greek Wedding" play-book. A classical history professor left high and dry by Athens University cut-backs, Vardalos' Georgia finds herself scraping together a living in Greece as a guide for a tour operation. In an effort to get Georgia to quit, her boss saddles her with an unventilated bus and a global army of tourists recruited from the seventh circle of hell. Georgia has two white knights lurking in plain sight: her sullen bus driver, Poupi (Alexis Georgoulis) and Irv (Richard Dreyfuss), a garrulous American tourist with a big heart. The script owes much to bottom-tier National Lampoon vacation movies, assuming as it does that all group tourists are either crooks, pigs or idiots and that the audience for comedy can never tire of the scatological and the homophobic jest. JAN STUART

MY SISTER'S KEEPER (PG-13, 109 minutes) The much-anticipated adaptation of the novel by cult favorite Jodi Picoult has to do with emancipation, a theme that the movie itself unwittingly plays into. At least two perfectly good movies fight to break free within this busy, oddly shaped weepie: one a peppery, provocative legal thriller, the other a mother-daughter melodrama worthy of Joan Crawford and Lana Turner at their most Gothically self-sacrificing. If "My Sister's Keeper" has a central character, it would be Anna (Abigail Breslin), an 11-year-old girl who was conceived by her parents, Sara and Brian (Cameron Diaz and Jason Patric), in order to harvest umbilical cord blood, bone marrow and various organs for their daughter

Kate (Sofia Vassilieva), who suffers from acute promyelocytic leukemia. Even though "My Sister's Keeper" is nominally Anna's story, the real center of the action is Sara, played by Diaz with a spiky, careworn absence of vanity. Perhaps a moment of silence is in order to recognize the fact that one of Hollywood's most delectable pop tarts is now playing the mother of teenagers. (AH)

THE PROPOSAL (PG-13, 104 minutes) A tightly wound dominatrix of a boss (Sandra Bullock), dressed in cinch-waisted suits and Louboutin peep-toes that could put an eye out at 50 paces, dragoons her long-suffering male secretary (Ryan Reynolds) into marrying her so her U.S. visa won't expire (she's Canadian). It's as predictable and comforting as a Happy Meal, but it must be said that the film manages to elicit some genuinely amusing moments, especially when it comes to physical comedy. Reynolds and Bullock don't generate much chemistry, but both can be thanked for bringing restraint to otherwise thankless roles; tireless trouper Betty White is underused as Reynolds' kittenish grandmother. Otherwise, it's cute, generic and instantly forgettable. (AH)

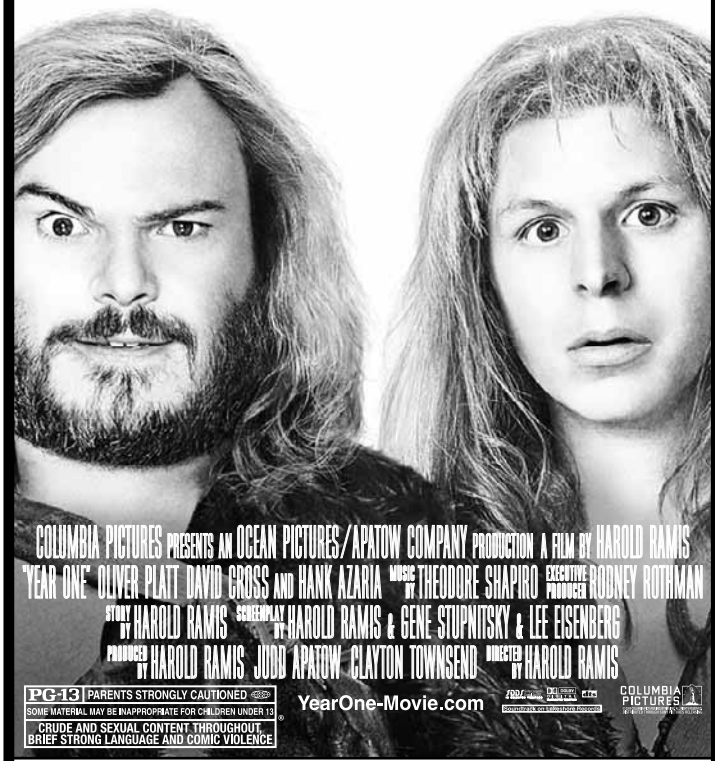

STAR TREK (PG-13, 127 minutes) Let us pray. Lord of "Star Trek" and all its spin-offs, we thank thee for a movie that, against all odds, has miraculously resurrected a wheezing but beloved franchise. We thank thee for an origin story that, unlike such recent downers featuring the Incredible Hulk and Wolverine, pays affectionate respect to its source material but never falls into the trap of slavish worship. We thank thee for Zachary Quinto, who plays Spock with surprising pathos. We thank thee for a setup that pits James T. Kirk (Chris Pine) and Spock against each other, giving the film its fraternal rivalry. But most of all, we thank thee for director J.J. Abrams, who proves such an able steward of this narrative and these characters. We thank thee for imbuing Abrams with taste and conscience enough to guarantee that the franchise will once again live long and prosper. May he do the same. Amen. (AH)

THE TAKING OF PELHAM 1 2 3 (R, 106 minutes) Director Tony Scott's remake of the gritty and darkly comic 1974 film starring Walter Matthau is about the controlled chaos of a city that barely works. As the lead hijacker of a subway train that left the Pelham station at 1:23 p.m., John Travolta is in high manic mode, seething and unpredictable, violent and charismatic. The best moments of the film are his conversations with Denzel Washington, who plays the Matthau role, as disgraced subway official Walter Garber, who is accidentally thrust into a leading role. If the film stayed there and focused on the psychology of an ordinary guy with a blot on his record and a crazy man who sees his own darkness in everyone, it might have been a good film. But this is a Scott film, which means it is animated by an absurd need for excess and dizzying camera work. You end up asking yourself: "How do the few fun bits of the film manage to survive in the midst of so much lousy filmmaking?" (PK)

TERMINATOR SALVATION (PG-13, 116 minutes) The latest installment in the "Terminator" series offers towering mechanical assassins; writhing, chrome-plated centipedes; and humans engaged in an epic battle, all in a movie that mixes summer blockbuster hysterics with moody, visual grit. Director McG picks up the pre-apocalyptic cue from "T3" and drops us in 2018, with the machines of the malevolent Skynet well into their campaign against humankind. Leader-to-be of the human rebellion John Connor (Christian Bale) is an insubordinate lieutenant but has been prophesied to be the savior of humankind. That might have come off as pretentious but instead seems believable — as believable as a movie like this can be. (JA)

TRANSFORMERS: REVENGE OF THE FALLEN (PG-13, 150 minutes) Director Michael Bay's film is simply despicable. So complaining about one's physical discomfort seems petty. But given the relentless din, the Leni Riefenstahl-inspired music and the headache-inducing visuals, OSHA should probably be investigating the conditions under which humans made this thing. Or the conditions under which they watch it. And this is from someone who liked "Transformers." Sure, it was a clanking, clanging, rock-'em, sock-'em robot slugfest, but with a human element that was surprisingly real. Shia LaBeouf held his own alongside his 14-story co-stars. "Trans 2" is the studio version of a genetically modified, growth-hormone-enhanced chicken. Consume at your own risk. (JA)

UP (PG, 98 minutes) Pixar has done it again. The company's first foray into 3-D animation is a soaring, touching, funny and altogether buoyant movie that lives up to its title in spirit and in form. Ed Asner provides the voice behind Carl Fredricksen, a boxily built curmudgeon who decides to fly his house to South America by way of a bunch of balloons. Newcomer Jordan Nagai voices the young Wilderness Explorer Russell, who comes along for the ride, to Carl's initial consternation and eventual comfort. Among "Up's" myriad pleasures is watching this intergenerational friendship bloom, at a time when pop culture seems to be dominated by snarky tween-centric sensibilities. (AH)

YEAR ONE (PG-13, 97 minutes) Zed (Jack Black) and Oh (Michael Cera) are dumb, even for cavemen, in this lowbrow, only fitfully amusing comedy about the misadventures of two inept hunter-gatherers expelled from their primitive village after accidentally setting it on fire. Zed and Oh soon find themselves traipsing through various Bible episodes, eventually winding up in Sodom, where the homophobic jokes fly fast and furious. It's as if the script had been written by someone with a grasp of Bible history as tenuous as one of Jay Leno's "Jay Walking" all-stars, and with the sense of humor of a high school sophomore. You will laugh, as long as you don't expect much more than a series of loosely connected sketches. (MO)

'Monsters Inside Me'
looks at — gulp —
parasitic infections

CREEPY | "Monsters Inside Me" (9 p.m., Animal Planet) is an up-close-and-poisonous look at parasitic infections — and the nasty creatures behind them.

Every episode of "Monsters" unfolds with a series of vignettes. A human falls ill and then his doctors do a little detective work and discover an outbreak traced to parasites either local or imported. Special effects show how the invaders pierce blood vessels, fight off antibodies and even penetrate the brain.

In one particularly gruesome tale, a Chicago medical student falls ill after playing a pick-up game of basketball. After unceasing headaches leave him wishing he would simply die, his doctors discover that he's been infiltrated by something called the rat lungworm.

The rat lungworm likes to live in a rats' lungs. But the rodents keep coughing them up and out, sending them slithering off to hitch a ride on slugs and snails until they can insinuate their way into another rat's breathing passages. Our unwell med student and several of his fellows ingested the unhappy creature when they all shared a bit of salad during a field trip to Jamaica.

The med student survived to raise a family and eat well-washed lettuce. He won't let his bout with the parasites keep him down, though. "I can't," he quips. "Otherwise, the worms win." KEVIN MCDONOUGH (UNITED FEATURE SYNDICATE)

Celebrating 25 Years of Excellence

RETURN NBC Pays Up Rest easy, fans of "Law & Order: SVU": Mariska Hargitay and Chris Meloni left, have signed contracts for another season. That was in some doubt, with fans of the show wondering whether the actors might be replaced after their two-year contracts expired. Pam Golum, a spokeswoman for producer Dick Wolf, says the two stars will be back at work next week. (AP)

Famous Sandy Bars of Fla.

Beachside drinking destinations reflect the state's character

MIAMI | Where else but Florida could a place like Jimbo's exist?

It's a Miami bait shack — emphasis on "shack" — a few miles from downtown but with an isolated island feel and a diverse mix of customers. Beer is self-serve, and the 82-year-old owner watches over the activity in a rickety boat captain's chair. It's been a location in films such as "Wild Things" and "Ace Ventura: Pet Detective" and TV shows such as "Flipper" and "Miami Vice," yet most folks don't know where it is.

And where else but Florida would you find places such as the Flora-Bama, a beach bar known for live music and airborne fish; Square Grouper, named for the bales of marijuana that sometimes float ashore; the Last Resort, where serial killer Aileen Wuornos drank her last beer; or a bar in Key West where Ernest Hemingway and Jimmy Buffett hung out (though not at the same time).

Florida has 23,398 licensed places to sit and drink beer, wine or cocktails. A long "research" trip across the state found many bars reflect the eclectic, historic and often bizarre character of the state itself. Here are a few worth noting.

Vacationers enjoy drinks at Le Tub bar in Hollywood, Fla. Booths at the former gas station overlook the Intracoastal Waterway.

Jake Gendell, the manager of the Elbo Room in Fort Lauderdale, mixes drinks.

→ CHURCHILL'S, 5501 NE Second Ave., Little Haiti, Miami. Serves English ales and bills itself as "a sort of English pub." Marilyn Manson played his first gig here, and it appeared in the movie "There's Something About Mary."

→ ALABAMA JACK'S, 58000 Card Sound Road, Key Largo. Located on a road lined with mangroves. Drink beer and watch pelicans far from civilization.

→ CAPTAIN TONY'S SALOON, 428 Greene St., Key West. The bar where Hemingway drank, known then as Sloppy Joe's. Mentioned in Buffett's song "Last Mango in Paris."

→ LE TUB, 1100 N. Ocean Drive, Hollywood. A 1959 gas station redone in the 1970s as a multilevel bar that feels like a tropical forest sprouted in it. Wooden booths overlook the Intracoastal Waterway.

→ PASTIME, 5301 Lenox Ave., Jacksonville. Lynyrd Skynyrd's "Gimme Three Steps" was written after singer Ronnie Van Zant was chased out of the tiny Pastime at gunpoint. "If it was any bigger, the song would have been called 'Gimme Five Steps,'" said owner Billy Bob Johnson. BRENDAN FARRINGTON (AP)

Ind.'s U.S.-40 Rich With Treasures

PURSUITS | Turn a hunt for antiques into a getaway on the 60-mile stretch known as Indiana's Antique Alley.

That's one of the recommendations from the editors of Midwest Living in the magazine's August issue. There are about 900 antiques dealers east of Indianapolis along old U.S.-40, also known as the National Road. The highway was the nation's first interstate, accommodating wagons heading west in the early 1800s.

The magazine suggests looking for treasures in Centerville, Richmond, Knightstown, Lewisville, Cambridge City and other towns. The editors recommended Centerville's Lantz House Inn as a place to send the night.

Other antiquing destinations in the Midwest recommended in the magazine include Door County, Wis.; Irish Hills, Mich.; Kankakee River Valley in Illinois; Oronoco, Minn.; Paxico, Kan.; and Walnut, Iowa. (AP)

ATTRACTIONS Groovy Getaway Peace and love will last a lot longer than three days at the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame and Museum, which is celebrating Woodstock's 40th anniversary with a new exhibit. From July 3 to Nov. 29, the Cleveland-based center will feature items from the legendary upstate New York concert, which took place from Aug. 15 through Aug. 17 in 1969. Among the artifacts on display is the original written plan for the event from its producer, Michael Lang. (AP)

Sweet and Spicy Slaw

A crunchy, flavorful coleslaw can serve as a topping on barbecue sandwiches (a Neely favorite) or as a colorful side dish at a picnic.

INGREDIENTS

- 1 small head green cabbage
- 1 small head red cabbage
- 4 carrots
- 1 medium yellow onion
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 1/4 cup prepared yellow mustard
- 2 tsp. apple-cider vinegar
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 tsp. freshly ground black pepper
- 1/2 tsp. cayenne pepper
- Kosher salt

SERVES 6-8

CUT THE CABBAGE into quarters and remove the cores. Peel the carrots and onion, and slice them into pieces that will fit through the feed tube of a food processor. Fit the food processor with the large-holed grater attachment, and push the cabbage, carrots and onion through the feed tube to grate. In a large bowl, toss the grated cabbage, carrots and onions to combine.

In a medium bowl, whisk together the mayonnaise, mustard, vinegar, sugar, black pepper and cayenne (whisk until the sugar is dissolved). Toss the dressing with the coleslaw, and season with salt and additional pepper to taste. Cover the slaw with plastic wrap, and chill for at least two hours before serving.

COURTESY OF "DOWN HOME WITH THE NEELYS" (KNOPF, $28)

Between the two of you, who makes a better barbecue sauce?

G: Oh, Pat's the barbecue king.

P: I disagree! I can throw down on the grill, but I really think Gina's knowledge of spices and love for sugars helps create great sauces. She's made sauces with things like buttermilk and cola.

“We'll put barbecue sauce on everything: chicken, turkey, ribs, pizza, nachos, tomatoes.”

You also put barbecue sauce on dishes like spaghetti or salad.

P: We'll put barbecue sauce on just about everything: chicken, turkey, beef ribs, pizza, nachos, grilled tomatoes. Really, it is the one thing we make that can be incorporated into just about anything.

A lot of couples can't share the kitchen. How do you make it work?

P: People always come up to us asking for advice. We always say, "You've got to have boundaries. You do what you do and let Mamma do what she do, and don't be critical of each other."

G: There's 11 ways to skin a cat. As long as you get it done, that's what matters.

What are the biggest mistakes people make when barbecuing?

P: For grilling, it's that they think they can fast-cook. They've got flames jumping everywhere and they think they've got a nice fire all ready. No, it's not. What you'll get is a nice burnt meat because you've got your grill too hot.

So, grilling takes a lot of finesse.

P: I'm just going to go ahead and say this: When you're making love, you've got to take your time, and when you're cooking, you've got to take your time.

G: You know, the Food Network is a PG station!

P: I had to say it, Baby! When people figure that out, they'll be much better grill masters.

Food Network stars Pat and Gina Neely whip up delicious home-style dishes

Most couples drive each other crazy in the kitchen, but not Pat and Gina Neely. The high school sweethearts — who went their separate ways after graduation but reconnected at their 10-year reunion and married soon after — like to divvy up the cooking duties both at their Memphis-based barbecue chain and on their hit Food Network show, "Down Home with the Neelys" (Sat., 11 a.m.). The show returns for a fifth season July 4. BETSY LOWTHER (EXPRESS)

After four seasons, is it hard to come up with new recipes?

GINA: We still have so much you guys haven't seen yet.

PAT: We're just warming up!

If you ask me to tell you what we'll be showing six months from now, I couldn't tell you. We let it free flow — there's no script or set direction. It's as if you were having dinner with us. What are Pat and Gina going to talk about tonight?

There are so many barbecue sauce types, from Tennessee tomato sauce to Carolina vinegar-based. Do you have an allegiance?

P: Memphis is known for a tomato-based sweet barbecue sauce. But we're more than just a one-barbecue family. I'll sometimes do a Kansas City-style barbecue sauce or a North Carolina kind.

Really? No favorites?

P: Tennessee is a diverse region in terms of barbecue. We found that out even when we went just 200 miles east to open our location in Nashville. People asked for pickles with their barbecue.

G: Ewwwwwww.

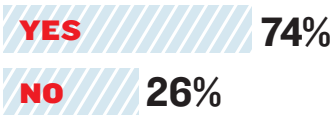

P: They did! They wanted it with pickles, corn bread and mayonnaise! But, really, barbecue has become a very, very regional type of cuisine. And Gina and I try to show as much range as possible.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Care should be taken that you don't overstep your bounds -- even among friends or loved ones. An awkward situation can surely result.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Someone is likely to recommend you for advancement or in the days to come. Today, however, something happens to jar you out of complacency.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You're likely to start seeing results as soon as you get started on a new project, especially if it has to do with self-improvement.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Who you know is as important as who knows you -- professionally and personally. You are flirting with financial success.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Aim high. Even if you don't reach your ultimate goal, you're likely to accomplish something that attracts a lot of attention.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) It's a good time to focus on what you can do to improve your surroundings -- close at hand and far afield. The environment is key.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You're going to want to get down to business quickly and efficiently. Don't give the competition any time to anticipate your actions.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) You may have to split your focus among three or more primary endeavors -- even as you plan ahead for things around the corner.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Push forward and your determination and tenacity will impress those in authority. You may have a promotion coming soon.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're going to want to do things according to your own rules and your own timeline. You won't be hurried or slowed down by anyone.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You may hesitate to ask for help just at the moment you most need it. Never fear; you'll get a second chance.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You don't want to be looking over your shoulder, mistrustful of others -- so you'll want to do everything aboveboard and by the book.
